Oranienburg has its own “Garden of Eden”. In 1893, 18 vegetarians from Berlin founded an orchard community. In Germany’s first “Vegetarian Colony” they developed alternatives for natural and healthy living. At the site of today’s collective there are exhibits, the Eden Café, a kindergarten, as well as the School of Music Eden. On the outer wall of the first floor of the collective building a historical facade by the sculptor Wilhelm Groß is displayed.
